MISS MERRYDAY CHARMING HOSTESS

Complimenting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold E. Merryday, a recent bride, and Miss Dorothy Merriam and Miss Priscilla Hamm, two girls who are shortly to become members of the "younger married set," Miss Ellene Merryday entertained at luncheon, yesterday, at her home on South Sixth street. Her guests included only the honorees and three recent brides, Mrs. Noah J. Tilghman, Mrs. L. S. Barstow and Mrs. Ralph E. Macdonald.

The attractive home was prettily decorated for the occasion with a profusion of cut flowers and greenery. With her usual delicate taste, Miss Merryday had used only rose-colored zinnias in the hall, and in the living room, pink zinnias were combined with pink corla vine, with charming effect. But in the dining room, the hostess had confined herself to a white and green color-scheme, and brides-roses and valley-lilies were combined with delicate greenery to give the true bridal effect.

The luncheon table was centered with an artistic arrangement of brides roses and lilies-of-the-valley, in a cut glass vase which was placed on a silver reflector. The chandelier was ornamented with an enormous bow of brocaded tulle ribbon, a "shower" of white satin ribbons and valley-lilies extending from this to the corner of the table. At each place was a wee Kewpie bride, wearing a long wedding veil, which was caught with orange blossoms. These tulle veils extended back to the reflector from each place. Each Kewpie held a place-card, daintily done in a bridal design.

The delicious menu served the guests consisted of fruit cocktail, lobster salad with saltines and olives, fried chicken with petit pois in potato timbales, hot rolls, stuffed celery, quava jelly, ice cream and cake, and iced tea.

Miss Merryday presented a handsome set of cut glass glasses to each of the brides-to-be, and to Mrs. Merryday she gave a handsome casserole. Each of the other guests received a pretty string of novelty beads.

Following the luncheon, the hostess and her guests repaired to the Grand Theater where they enjoyed the picture, "What Every Woman Wants."

Miss Merryday is always an original and charming hostess, and the affair of yesterday was new evidence of the fact.

COMPLIMENTING MISS MERRIAM

Mrs. Frank Owens, Jr., and Miss Vanita Tromley will entertain at luncheon, Tuesday afternoon, complimenting Miss Dorothy Merriam, whose marriage to Mr. Charles P.
